This Chronicle sheet may only be assigned to a Pathfinder Society character between November 13, 2012, and December 3, 2012. Once assigned, the effects may be used at any time thereafter.

Your participation in the feasting and flashy displays of evocation magic that mark the Nethysian holiday have left you with an affinity for magic you didn't possess before, or honed skills you already possessed. You gain a +5 competence bonus on any single Knowledge (arcana) or Spellcraft check, declared before attempting the skill check. You may attempt this skill check even if you possess no ranks in the associated skill. After using this ability, cross this boon off the Chronicle sheet.

In addition to celebrating evocation and the awe-inspiring power of magic, wizards and other spellcasters use Evoking Day as an opportunity to share their knowledge with one another openly. As a result, the costs of sharing spells with fellow arcanists is reduced for those participating in the holiday's festivities. When adding a spell or formula to a spellbook or formula book, you may ignore the material component cost of scribing a single spell or formula. You must still pay for the purchase of a scroll if one serves as the source of the learned spell or formula. Once you have used this boon, cross it off the Chronicle sheet.
